

Maria Rose & Danny Elswick

Maria Rose and Danny Elswick are respected entertainers, chosen from groups Nationwide to perform for the USO, taking a 'touch of home' to our Armed Forces on 11 different overseas tours. They can be seen often on the Nationwide "Midwest Country" TV Show on the RFD-TV network, and were inducted into the Midwest Country Music Hall of Fame. They also received the "Gospel CD of the Year" award in the Midwest.

Maria Rose has appeared on numerous national television and radio shows, hosted her own television show, and is known for her outgoing personality and stage presence. She charted the eastern US with "Can We Still Be Friends", written by Bill Anderson. Maria is a recipient of the Presidential "Point of Light" Award.

Danny plays numerous instruments, including guitar, bass, mandolin, banjo and steel guitar, and is an experienced recording engineer. On their CD projects, Danny records almost every instrument in their own studio, and they both record the backup harmonies.

They've shared the stage with numerous top-name entertainers, and in their own recording studio, Maria & Danny have recorded 11 CDs, including, "What a Wonderful World", "The Gospel Collection", "An American Collection" and "Country Classic Favorites", and Maria's latest, "Originals".
